Hi David!

When you don't know for sure which students are actually in class — instead of in the hallway, bathroom, or who knows where — you've got a problem.

You can take back control with Securly Pass, an easy-to-implement digital hall pass system.

But don't just take our word for it. Here's what Stacie from Ballyshannon Middle School says:

"Securly Pass is a product that I don't know how we would function without. Pass provides tools that allow our admin team to monitor our building effectively, increase our safety, have accurate data for decision-making, and have our pulse on movement throughout the building at a moment's notice."

Thousands of schools have already made the switch to Securly Pass. Here's why. Will yours be next?
