Superintendent's Report December 12, 2025

Superintendent Evaluation: This is a reminder that you will need to work on my evaluation in the near future.

Skyward Transition: We have received access to our training platform for our new Skyward version, and over break, I plan to dedicate some time to setting up the security settings so, we are ready to roll out to stakeholders in the spring.

Building Project Update: The vent system in the welding shop was found to be installed incorrectly, as specified by the engineers. EL Pruitt will resolve it. This is the last outstanding issue on the building project, so once it is finished, we will be officially done. We are waiting on a price to install an additional condensation drain to prevent any water from entering in the future; this was not included in the original plans.

We are waiting for Ameren to replace the meter that feeds the new addition. They claim they were not aware of the load being added with the Cougar Center, but they received copies of all the drawings. The current meter is too small, and Ameren said they will need to relocate the meter to accommodate the larger meter.

Seymour Center for Rural Education Advisory Board: I have been asked by Western Illinois University to serve on the Seymour Center for Rural Education Advisory Board. The goal of this board is to serve as a sounding board for the Seymour Center's mission to expand the applicant pool for rural schools and provide support for rural school districts. This is a brand-new initiative so I will be representing our district on the board.
