Plant List

Desert Willow

height - 15 ft

spread - 15 ft

qty - 2

colors - trumpet-shaped flowers are white to purple with rose-violet streaks

It has an interesting, gnarled trunk that usually arches near the ground and branches several times. Blooming continues through late August if adequate moisture is available. During the peak, nearly every twig is tipped by a 3-6" long panicle filled with fragrant, showy, long blossoms. Bees make a sweet, white honey from the nectar. Birds eat the winged seeds, and many animals use the tree as cover.

Fountain Grass

height - 2-3 ft

spread - 1-2 ft

qty - 9

colors - looks best in dry streambeds and around rocks in natural or wild gardens with water feature

The leaves are narrow and arch, add to this seed-heads that resemble bottle brushes which are a rose copper bristly head. They aren't fussy about soil requirements, are drought tolerant as well as insect and disease resistant. There is nothing that adds such interesting forms, textures and movement to a garden, than with this diverse plant group.

False Sunflower

height - 2-3 ft

spread - 1-2 ft

qty - 3

colors - masses of 3" golden yellow semi-double daisies from late spring through summer just keep coming and coming — plants form a tall, bushy clump

False Sunflowers are reliable for their very long season of bloom. Plants form a tall, bushy clump of dark green leaves, bearing branching heads of large golden-yellow daisy flowers, semi-double in this selection. Removing faded flowers regularly will greatly extend the blooming season. May require staking, particularly when grown in very rich garden soil.
