DISTRICT PUBLIC NARRATIVE

Midwest Central School District prioritizes serving all students to the best of our ability. These data show how we allocate resources for the sake of serving students. Overall, the amount of spending per pupil varies very little by school. One data set that does vary is the use of our federal funds. Different schools have different needs based on the students that they serve. Because Midwest Central Primary School and Midwest Central Middle School are both Title I schools they receive a larger portion of federal funds. That provides for the imbalance in spending of federal funds. Overall, our total per pupil spending between buildings is balanced and fiscally sound.
