Food took second place to student relations. It seems the Academy Students have warmed up to the “Lunch guy”. The goal from the beginning was to produce fresh, good food that they liked, coupled with a smile and a “what can I do for you” attitude, in a cafeteria setting that was safe for them to relax in. This hopefully would foster a better learning experience. The students have been much happier, quite polite, and the cafeteria is filled with much laughter, and talk compared to the beginning of the school year. It is planned to roll out new food options that is hoped to capture more of the eligible students that presently bypass eating each day.
