DROPS OF DATA

Mr. Deets's forensics class has been hard at work putting their learning to the test. After several weeks of studying blood-spatter patterns, Mr. Deets created an assessment activity in which students investigated a realistic breaking-and-entering scenario that resulted in a mock homicide. Forensics students applied the skills they have been learning in class to examine spatter patterns at the scene, make inferences, and form a hypothesis about the events that occurred. Forensics continues to be a popular class for upperclassmen, as Mr. Deets creates an engaging and rigorous experience that pushes students to look beyond the obvious and examine evidence through a scientific lens.

CLASS MILESTONE

Have you ever heard of a class that has completed every single homework assignment and test? Sounds too good to be true, right? Not for Mr. Eastman! This semester, his 3rd-hour Intro to Business class did just that—completing every assignment. This amazing achievement would not have been possible without the hard work and dedication of the students. Way to go!!
