Rogue Rave Review

Dear Parents;

What a year! 2008-09 has been a year of many accomplishments. Our athletic programs were very successful with the Cross Country team winning another Southern Oregon Championship as well as our Girls 8th Grade basketball team. We had many individual champions on both the wrestling and track teams. More important than these championships is the fact that we were able to continue our athletic programs for another year without the support of any taxpayer funds. Without the help of volunteers none of this would have been possible. Next year when you see a coach working hard for our kids please take the time to recognize them for the good they are doing. I would like to repeat my comments here that I made at the end of our National Junior Honor Society Induction Ceremony. At the ceremony I took a few moments to draw the attention of our guests to the fact that this year's 8th grade students have accomplished something that no other class at Fleming can claim. When they were 6th graders they started Fleming on a winning path of academic success by contributing to our Exceptional rating. When they were 7th graders they continued this success with another Exceptional rating. And now, as 8th graders, they have continued to work hard, follow their teacher's instructions, listen to their parent's advice and it is all paying off. We are very certain that the class of 2013 is the most academically accomplished group of students this school has ever produced. Considering that the State Superintendent of Schools has selected our school as the leader in the state, it stands to reason that our 8th grade students are the best students in this state. Our current 6th and 7th grade students could not have had a better group of students to model than this current 8th grade class. I challenge all of our 6th and 7th grade students to follow their lead and continue to work hard, cooperate with your teachers and do as your parents ask and great things will happen to you too.

Thank you for your support.

Dear Fleming Families,

The 2008-2009 school year is coming to a close. As I reflect on my first year as an administrator, thoughts of challenges, triumphs, and lessons learned fill my head. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the families who have entrusted Fleming with the middle school education of their students. With every situation that arises, I must confess that I have learned from the unintentional bumps I have encountered along the way. The students at Fleming Middle School have taught me lessons not found in any of the textbooks that are required for this job.

The year has been amazing and the Fleming students have once again lived up to their label of "Exceptional." We have had championship basketball, volleyball and cross country teams. We have had several individual track athletes named as SOMSAC District Champions. Our students have remained the district's Battle of the Books champions for the second year in a row. Fleming student's art work has been recognized throughout the community. The championship marching band has been visible in several parades. As you can see, the students at Fleming are successful in all areas.

The students of Fleming have reached unprecedented goals because of the dedication of the staff. Our teachers have spent countless hours both in the out of the classroom to further enrich the lives of their students. The quest for 53 minutes of uninterrupted class time has proven to be the hallmark of the individual success that every student experiences. Intentional relationships between staff and students were formed. Our educational assistants also played a huge role in the quality education that our school provides. Every other adult on our campus has worked hard to connect with our students.

Thank you for trusting us with your children. Have an "Exceptional" summer.

NATIONAL JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

The National Junior Honor Society ranks as one of the oldest and most prestigious national organizations for middle level students. Chapters exist in more than 60 percent of the nation's middle level school. Since 1929, millions of students have been selected for membership. NJHS is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, which also sponsors National Honor Society for high school students.

The National Junior Honor Society induction ceremony was held on Thursday, May 14. The National Junior Honor Society, or NJHS, recognizes students for their accomplishments. For any student wishing to attend college, being in the Honor Society is extremely important. The new inductees include: Alex Eells, Kristen Godfrey, Luke Gunderson, Alexis Hartford, Janey Locke, Brittany Lessard, Cameron Lyon, Melodie Martz, Kevin Olmstead, Curtis Roberts Josephine Stark, Madison Stegemiller, Cody Toller, Shelby Valdez, Tristen Wallmann, Kasey Werner, Sara Wilkerson, and Ardrew Youngblood. They will be joining all the previous members: Cody Bearisto, Richard Carlton, Hailey Colangeli, David Cornish, Jonathon Cornish, Mikayla Dart, Courtney Durham, Jason Fontes, Allison Glenn, Allyson Gronholm, Tyler Heth, Kaitlin Hoback, Maesy Hughes, Lacey LaCrosse, Cheyenne Low, Daphne Lyda, Kylie McElheran, Jennifer McPeake, Trina Morago, Anna Patch, Austin Pyle, MaKenzie Schmoll, Andrew Schoenborn, Megan Taylor, Connor Vodicka, Brian Weisbart and, Joseph Ycaza.

Students in 7th grade have the opportunity to join, if they meet all the criteria for all of 6th grade and the first semester of 7th grade. You need to have: a G.P.A. of 3.5 or higher, a positive influence at school, home, and in the community, some community service action done for others and not financially compensated, civic involvement (like 4-H, Scouting, school clubs, etc.), and a good character. That may sound like a lot, but more than 20 students qualified this year.
