With ESSA requirements, locations are charged percentages of costs based on who participates in professional development. This causes the decimals in the calculations.

*When analyzing data from the 2018-19 school year, it was noticed that Thomas Street was not charged for one consulting day. This is the cause of the discrepancy of funds between the K-2 schools.

**K-2 schools participated in 12 professional development days as a group. Each school paid for 3, but all the teachers were participants.
