Detail

Lee College has data residing in different applications including PeopleSoft, the National Student Clearinghouse, EvalKit, the Lee College Continuing Education registration system, and a range of spreadsheets maintained in different offices. ZogoTech provides a central data warehouse that enables the college to make better use of the data from these disparate sources, which also include the college's ISD partners. ZogoTech provides advanced reporting functions that replace many of the queries that are run against PeopleSoft, which increases the security of PeopleSoft by reducing direct database access.
