Frankenstein Rises

Keeping in the spirit of Halloween, the DHS Theater Department presented this year's fall play, Frankenstein. The show explored the central theme of moral responsibility and asked the age-old question: "Just because you can, should you?" DHS students dedicated countless hours to designing and constructing sets, rehearsing their lines, and promoting the production to audiences. After three successful performances, students are now turning their attention to preparations for the spring musical. Be sure to check the DHS social media pages for more information about the upcoming show!

& El Dia de los Muertos

Students in Mrs. Fitzanko's and Ms. Queckborner's Spanish classes expanded their studies of Hispanic culture by learning about the holiday Día de los Muertos. This holiday focuses on honoring the lives of loved ones who have passed away through traditions such as creating ofrendas and decorating sugar skulls. Students had a great time participating in these cultural activities while gaining a deeper understanding of another culture.

Fall Athletics Wrapup

As the fall leaves changed color and temperatures began to drop, the fall sports season came to an exciting close, and what a season it was! DHS student-athletes continued to impress fans and spectators with outstanding performances, including several state appearances and highly competitive postseason runs. Our volleyball team advanced to regionals, as did the boys soccer team, which overcame several injuries throughout the season. Football once again made a playoff run, demonstrating how far grit, determination, and teamwork can take a team. Boys golf earned a trip to the state tournament, and Rachel Drew qualified for state competition as an individual golfer. Girls tennis also found success, with Brooklyn Arjes advancing to state in singles play and Jenna Mustapha and Madison Emmole competing at state in doubles. The fall season concluded with both the boys and girls cross-country teams qualifying for the state meet. The boys team capped off an incredible season by winning the state championship for the second consecutive year. We are proud of all our athletic teams and congratulate our student-athletes on their outstanding accomplishments this season!
