MAKING IT HAPPEN AT IVHS!

Welcome Back!

What a great month to be a Cougar! The staff and students at IVHS have had an incredible month of change. We have 5 new staff members, a new administration, and 352 students excited about the 2012/13 school year.

This September started off with a bang. We have successfully implemented our PBIS (positive behavior intervention and supports) program for the school year and have decreased discipline referrals and our attendance is up compared to last year. Our students are expected to display P.R.I.D.E. in our school: Perseverance-Respect-Integrity-Discipline-Excellence. For the month of September, our staff have recognized 211 students for displaying PRIDE in the hallways, cafeteria, and in the classroom.

Cougar Homecoming Week was last week and the students competed in spirit competitions as well as a parade through Cave Junction. Our students made stops at Evergreen Elementary and Lorna Byrne, high fiving all the elementary and middle school students.

SUCCESS AT IVHS

We are implementing our SUCCESS Periods next week. The teachers at IV will be providing support for our students in four areas: Math, Writing, Reading/Social Studies, and Science. These core area teachers will provide intervention to students that are failing to reach proficiency in these classes. Our core teachers will request students to meet with on during Wednesday intervention/enrichment time. Priority will rotate by core area for kids that need intervention in multiple areas. We feel that intervening with students in their core classes has to be our priority to increase our graduation rate and student success. Students that do not need intervention in these four areas will get to experience an enrichment class of their choice. We are offering 18 different enrichments for these students ranging from computer classes, speech and debate, drama, and community service opportunities with the forest service, BLM, library, and the Fishwatch Program.

This type of focused intervention will allow teachers to work with the individuals students that need support and create the atmosphere where failure is not an option!

10 Websites That Will Help Your Child With Homework!

<http://tinyurl.com/parentres1>

With school just around the corner, and families getting ready to start new routines and habits, I searched the web for more sites that parents and students could go to for homework help. I combined my favorite sites with Susan's and put together a list of 10 Websites That Will Help Your Child With Homework! I have included not only sites that offer homework assistance but sites that have information and tools to help students complete their work.

Proficiency Based Grading

Proficiency Based Learning (PBL) is a method of teaching specific knowledge and skills within the standards and holding students accountable to become proficient in these standards in order to receive credit for the class. It is different from traditional teaching/learning in that the majority of the grade (80%) reflects the knowledge and the skills that the student is able to learn throughout the course, rather than a reflection of getting their ability to turn homework in on time, completing all assignments and being on time to class. These things are still very important, but only make up 20% of the student's grade in PBL.

PBL in the classroom is very similar to what you would see in a traditional classroom—the difference lies in the relevance and execution of the assessments (tests/quizzes). Students are ignited by the fact that every classroom activity and homework assignment is preparation for demonstrating their proficiency in a particular standard. In addition, students must demonstrate their proficiency in the standards in order to pass the class—usually students in these classrooms are more prepared, more directed and have more personal responsibility than in class where they are allowed to fail several assessments and yet meet the minimal point requirements to pass the class. Teachers can show their creativity in designing activities and assessments, and students can demonstrate proficiency in the standards in a variety of ways.

There are many benefits to PBL; however, our focus in TRSD will be in the form of student empowerment. We will set high expectations for all of our students—from students with I.E.P's to students taking AP classes. Past experience illustrates the need to expect students to be in charge of their own education. When they are, they become more personally invested in the outcome; they need to set appointments, manage their time, make decisions and reflect on which learning strategies have been successful and which ones have not. This will bring relevance into everything they learn. Students with I.E.P's will benefit because the curriculum is clear and accessible. Traditional 'A' students who are used to the accumulation of points rather than the accumulation of knowledge are now challenged in a way that prepares them for the rigors of higher learning in post-secondary institutions or the work force.

Each department and classroom could look differently depending on the subject and the set of standards for that area. Each department has developed rubrics and assessments that will work with the curriculum within each discipline and for their own unique standards. The structure will take on the personality of the teacher, department, age of students, and subject. There are Oregon State Content Standards for all content areas, but some standards for some classes will need to be developed from industry standards or Career Readiness Standards. Common Core State Standards have been adopted for English/Language Arts and Math in 46 states, Oregon being one of them. The new Common Core State Standards will be implemented with PBL in 2012/13 in our English/Language Arts classes, and our middle school Math classes. High School Math will implement Common Core State Standards within PBL in 2013/2014. Some of our classes will be 80% proficiency, while some will be more depending on defined objectives.

Our goal is easy to define. Empowering individual students through their successes! As a school community, it is our job to link learning to the real world and how it becomes relevant regardless of application. PBL will claim outcomes that hold function, purpose, and reality as the measuring stick for those successes through demonstration of knowledge and skills based on defined standards. We want ALL of our students to experience success in TRSD.

COUGAR PRIDE

PERSEVERANCE RESPECT INTEGRITY DISCIPLINE EXCELLENCE

What is PBIS?

PBIS stands for positive behavioral interventions and supports. There are five main components of PBIS at Illinois Valley High School. They are teaching appropriate behavior in all settings, provide interventions when behavior expectations are not met, and recognizing students when behavior expectations are met.

PBIS is a team based school-wide design for discipline which includes all students and all staff in all settings. It is a program that can be upgraded as we go along to better meet the needs of our students by using the analysis of discipline data along with surveys and ideas shared by students, parents, and staff.

COUGAR TREK

Students who have 92% or better attendance, 3 or fewer tardies, and no referrals by November 30th get to attend the Portland Trailblazers vs. the Toronto Raptors game on Monday, December 10th. The cost will be $5.00 per student. More details to come! Please encourage your students to "Make it Happen" and plan to attend this trip.

What Makes PBIS Different?

The focus of this program is acknowledging and rewarding students for consistent positive behavior. The PRIDE Card serves as a positive behavior recognition to encourage our students to consistently demonstrate PBIS's core values. Three PRIDE Cards are drawn every Wednesday for a variety of items such as food, clothing, gift cards, movie passes, and much more. Students are also recognized through student of month awards, Cougar Citation awards & Cougar Grams. The program does not only recognize students, but staff are acknowledged as well.

SPORTS REPORT FROM THE COUGAR DEN

FALL SPORTS PREVIEW

Football

Coach Ray Yarbrough and his staff have been working diligently with the dedicated athletes of IVHS to prepare them for a run at the title. After a rough start the Cougars have put it together with a victory over N. Douglas and then a dismantling of Bandon. The Cougars have a couple big weeks ahead with Bonanza, Lakeview, and then Cascade Christian before they finish off with senior night against Lost river and conclude their season at Rogue River. The Cougars have been impressive this year in all phases of the game. Coach Yarbrough says, "I have been very pleased with the physicality of our football team. The kids are getting after our opponents on both sides of the ball."

Volleyball

Coach Jeannie Sherman returns to the volleyball this year with a group of girls who are looking to make a splash in the Southern Cascade League. The team is young and has struggled with consistency, but the girls are excited about their chances and are working hard to achieve their goals. Recently they lost a heartbreaker to a talented Lakeview team, and look to rebound in October.

Boys Soccer

Coach Rex Wessels takes over the IV soccer program with high expectations and a vision to accomplish his goals. The Cougars play an exciting style of soccer and have been lighting up the scoreboard recently. In their last match against Rogue River the Cougars dropped six goals on their rival. Coach Wessels hopes the team's unity and consistency can propel the Cougars to a league title and state playoff appearance.

Girls Soccer

The girls soccer team is gathering momentum as they enter into league play. Recently they beat Rogue River and have made tremendous strides since last season. Coach Matti has been impressed with their work ethic and desire to be the best they can be. In October they have some big games against Cascade Christian and St. Mary's to name a few.

Cross Country

First year coach Brandi Eichmann is doing all the right things. The team is gearing up and preparing for a successful showing at the SCL district meet the end of October. Look for these young Cougars to run well in October.
