Dear Mr. Niemi:

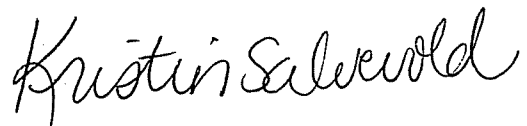

I am writing in regard to my current position as the junior varsity volleyball coach. I have enjoyed this job very much and it is with great reluctance that I must resign from this position.

We will be having our seventh child on June 25, and since the season begins just a month and a half later, it will be too difficult for me to care for a newborn and to effectively do my job as a high school coach.

I am grateful for the opportunities I have had to coach the female athletes of Becker. The athletic department is moving in a positive direction and if it would work out in the future for me to be able to serve again as a volleyball coach in some capacity, I would be open to considering that option.

Thank you for investing in me as I sought to invest in the lives of these young people.

Sincerely,
