Provide a summary of the charter's efforts in meeting the needs of students with disabilities and Section 504 students, including an analysis of current performance, areas where growth is needed, and the specific strategies and supports that will be implemented to ensure success for these students.

Horizon Montessori Public schools provides in-class support to special education students. Students in need of modified instruction are provided comparable services. Special education teachers are trained to implement small group instruction. Currently, this is implemented in small break-out rooms in the virtual platform. As part of the collaboration between general education and special education teachers the general education teachers share the lesson plans with the special education teachers. Special Education Teachers then provide pre-teaching strategies to help students front load new lessons. By doing this students build background knowledge. Students that are dyslexic and struggling readers are provided with an intervention period of thirty minutes twice or once a week on a case by case basis of the Lindamood Bell Seeing Stars program. Special education teachers provide small group homework assistance to students. Special education teachers maintain student monitoring action plans that are completed every three weeks to ensure student success. With a student monitoring action plan a student sets goals to improve their grades, at the same time students write their own statement as to why they are not performing well in that particular course. This encourages self determination in special education students. Like special education students, 504 students are provided accommodations in accordance to each student's eligibility. General education teachers provide accommodations to students with an academic intervention plan. Dyslexic students are also provided with an intervention period to address students' educational needs. Based on a case by case basis students are given from one to twice a week a thirty minute period of the Lindamood Bell Seeing Stars program. We provide support to the special education teachers on a regular basis to keep them updated with TEA special education updates. We also provide trainings on a regular basis on student IEP development and we provide support and guidance to the campuses on a regular basis with 504 and Rtl.

Formal assessments are done three times a year using CLI Engage. Teachers use the data to compare growth and mastery various skills ranging from Vocabulary, Letter Knowledge, Phonological Awareness and Math/Science. Informal assessments such as teacher observations, checklists, are portfolios are conducted continuously throughout the school year. The data reports (summary, completion and growth) from the CLI Engage help teacher create small groups and differentiate instruction as needed to best serve our English Learners. Data is reviewed at grade level, campus level and district level in order to track progress and adjustments are made as needed. The Bilingual Coordinator meets with teachers and campus administration to offer support and to ensure that the district's transitional model is being followed.
