

Cooperative Student Teaching Agreement with the University of Northern Iowa

Background:

The University of Northern Iowa sends contracts to schools all across Iowa in case an aspiring teacher requests a school like Belmond-Klemme for his/her student teaching experience.

This is a routine, annual task.

Most colleges and universities do not require a formal contract for student teaching experiences, but a few schools do such as Buena Vista, Iowa State, and UNI. Some colleges also pay a small stipend to the cooperating teacher.

Recommended Action:

I recommend the board approve the Cooperative Student Teaching Agreement with the University of Northern Iowa.
