Summary: Bond Election Order

If the Board of Trustees chooses to call a Bond Election:

a. The board will determine the amount of the ballot propositions, the wording of the ballot propositions, and the order of the ballot propositions at the meeting when it orders the election; no changes can be made later to these items.

b. The order will include an exhibit for the dates, times, and locations for voting when those details are available.

c. Financial information for section 7 and the required voter information exhibit will be completed once the election is ordered and amounts determined.

d. The terms of the order let us update details later without need for further board action.

Background Information:

Following four months of intensive analysis and collaboration, the 2025-26 Long Range Facilities Master Planning Committee delivered its recommendation to the Navarro ISD Board of Trustees at the December meeting. Committee members Amy Strauch and Kristen Green presented the executive summary, outlining a strategic single-proposition bond proposed for the May 2026 election.

The recommendation is the result of a "100% consensus" among the committee members, which included parents, alumni, staff, and community members. Their primary focus? Preparing the district for a student population expected to surge over the next decade.

The most critical component of the proposal is a $57.5 million expansion and renovation of the Junior High School (formerly Navarro High School which will open as the new Junior High in August 2026). Demographic reports from November indicate that the campus is expected to exceed 1,000 students within just three years and reach over 1,400 students within the decade.

To manage this growth, the committee proposed a two-phase project:

- Phase I (Completion Summer 2029): Construction of a new academic wing with 16 classrooms and a new cafeteria/auditorium to allow all students to eat in one space inside the building.
- Phase II (Completion Spring 2030): Converting the current high school cafeteria and kitchen into flexible, functional classroom spaces.

All agenda items are reviewed by the Superintendent's Leadership Team.

F. Administrative Recommendation: Administration recommends a Board review of the Long-Range Facilities Master Planning Committee recommendation and District recommendation to consider the steps needed to launch the recommended plan. The recommendations are based on currently available demographic projections, analysis of existing facilities, and the vision, mission, priorities, and goals of the district outlined in the strategic plan. Administration recommends calling a bond for $65 million to address the proposed recommendation. If the Board decides to call a Bond election, the Board will determine the amount of the ballot propositions, the wording of the ballot propositions, and the order of the ballot propositions at the meeting when it orders the election.

G. Fiscal Impact and Cost: Amount: To be determined with Bond Election Order
