. . . Jalaine Wheeler, Kindergarten Teacher

"Children Are Special People." I remember my teaching mentor posted those four words on a banner in her classroom. Every day I would read them and it was a simple reminder of who I work with. Kindergarteners in my classroom are not only growing in height, they are growing academically in ways that are subtle on a daily basis, but very noticeable over time. It is so exciting to see students already reading books and solving addition problems. Whether we are painting abstract Eric Carle hearts for Valentine's Day, showing different number combinations for adding, or using knowledge of letter sounds in their writing, I am very proud of the hard work my students do. I am blessed and thankful to be given the opportunity to guide them through their Kindergarten year. I hope to instill in them skills that they will need to be successful in all areas of their lives. I am humbled every day in my classroom, teaching and learning from Kindergarteners. Children truly are special people, Mrs. Wheeler
