Re: Information Literacy Course

Information Literacy is a vital component to a digitally literate learner. We have developed a course for educators and administrators to help prepare them to build information literacy capacity within our learners. All CISD educators and administrators will complete the course in the Fall 2014 semester. Educators will not only have the opportunity to learn a valuable and transferrable skill set, but will also complete a plan that will be implementable in their own classrooms and be provided follow-up learning opportunities and support through our comprehensive implementation plan.

A companion parent course will be available as well. This course will provide parents the opportunity to both support and empower their child and develop a vocabulary and skillset common to the CISD educators regarding information literacy.

- We request an opportunity to review with the Coppell ISD Board of Trustees the Information Literacy Course.
