

Honoring their service

Six new members to be inducted into Manistee Catholic Central Hall of Fame

FROM STAFF REPORTS

MANISTEE — Manistee Catholic Central School will present its annual hall of fame dinner at 6 p.m. on Saturday at the school.

Faith, school spirit and volunteerism always have been the backbone of the success of MCC. The hall of fame was established in 1992, to recognize those individuals and organizations who have gone above and beyond, to serve and promote MCC and Catholic education in Manistee.

The inductees for 2013 are Patti Ennis, Virginia Niesen, Sally Schubert, Mike Skocelas, Phyllis Wissner and the Manistee Intermediate School District. This group joins the 226 people already enshrined in the hall of fame.

One of the traditions associated with the hall of fame event, is bringing back a Saber alumnus to serve as the guest speaker.

Matt Bauman, a graduate of the MCC class of 1998, will handle those duties this year.

Manistee Intermediate School District

The Manistee Catholic Central Staff award recipient this year is the Manistee Intermediate School District (MISD).

Located in Manistee County, the MISD serves 3,206 students. There are four public school districts, one public academy, two non-public schools and one community college in its service area.

It takes a great deal of resources and collaboration to run a successful school and curriculum. The combined efforts between MCC and the MISD create a positive relationship for the benefit of our students and staff. School officials truly feels blessed to be partnered with MISD in the educational and personal growth of our students.

The MISD offers services to MCC (and all county schools) through the general education department, Kay Salyer, director, and the special education department, Jim Scranton, director, (SHOWN ABOVE) all under the guidance of Scott Crosby, superintendent and a board of education.

Services provided to the students/staff include staff professional development and opportunities to join in professional, educational networks: principal network; curriculum team network; data sharing; child study teams; occupational therapy, speech therapy; physical therapy; academic and behavioral assessments and counseling services. These resources provide great benefits to our students and our staff in ways that otherwise wouldn't be possible.
