

Where Little Learners Expect Great Things!

Involvement, Fun, and Science!

This month I wanted to highlight the recent Kindergarten Science Day. What an amazing hands on learning experience! Kids and Adults alike learned a lot, had fun and deepened their understanding of science concepts. Thank you to the Kindergarten team for all of their efforts in planning this event. Recently the team has made considerable investments in increasing the meaning of the yearly events to relate closely to the curriculum while also increasing the connections and involvement parents have with their children when attending the event. Thank you team!
