Dear Colleague:

The effects of the recession, the initiatives of congress and the administration, projects like the Common Core Standards--these and other factors are having a significant impact on school districts everywhere. Now more than ever, school boards need strong support at the federal level working with state associations to promote public education and secure essential resources. Your support is critical for the National School Boards Association to work on your behalf in Washington, D.C. during these challenging times.

If you'd like to review the benefits you're currently receiving through the National Affiliate program please go to the Explore section of the National Affiliate website at: www.nsba.org/na.

We understand that finances are tight for school districts nationwide, so in addition to advocating on your behalf, we are working to manage expenses and efficiencies across all NSBA activities. Unfortunately, as hard as we try sometimes we must raise fees to cover current services and explore new ones. I'm happy to report that, even in these difficult times, your colleagues nationwide continue to renew their National Affiliate participation at nearly a 90% rate.

Thank you for your district's ongoing participation as an NSBA National Affiliate. Your voice is needed more now than ever.
