

Eduar is a fifth-grade student at Irving School who continuously demonstrates service to others and a work ethic that is unmatched. Eduar has been at Irving School since kindergarten, and demonstrates true wildcat spirit by consistently helping other students and teachers with a smile, without being asked. His selflessness is reflected in his daily actions, as he takes pride in both his work, and his classroom community. It's never a surprise to see Eduar racing to the board to share his work, helping others complete their assignments when they are confused, or volunteering to help with any task that may come up. Eduar begins everyday with a positive attitude, and challenges himself to always do his personal best. Whether requesting extra at home practice for the concepts he is learning or actively participating in class, Eduar demonstrates a drive and willingness to learn that will lead him to be successful in anything he puts his mind to.
