

Connor McCarthy & Kevin Harrington

Special Assistants to the President for Innovation

Kevin and Connor graduated from Harvard in 2014, where they were teammates on the soccer team. Both went to work on Wall Street in Real Estate Private Equity (Kevin) and Investment Banking (Connor) after college, but were quickly underwhelmed by finance.

After spending time researching how best to get back into the world of liberal arts higher education that they had been so passionate about in college, they fortuitously met Dr. Jeffrey Docking, who outlined the work he has done at Adrian college to innovate on their education model. Kevin and Connor were so impressed by Dr. Docking's track record that they immediately agreed to join Dr. Docking on his quest to improve upon the current model in higher education, and have been working toward that mission ever since.