Three DHS seniors named to UIL all-state journalism staff

Three Denton High School seniors were recently selected to the 2012-13 all-state journalism staff by the University Interscholastic League.

George Roberson, Emily Fu and Rebecca Fu were among 37 journalism students from across the state who were named to the All State Journalism Staff.

Each student earned at least 50 points through victories or competition in district, regional or state contests sponsored by the UIL, Interscholastic League Press Conference or other journalistic institution.

The three DHS students are staff members on The Horseshoe, the DHS student newspaper, and/or The Bronco, the yearbook. Their selection also represented 60 percent of the Dallas-Fort Worth area's UIL representation, with DHS students claiming three of the five DFW all-state journalism selections.

Greg Bogomol is the Denton High journalism teacher and advisor on both DHS student publications.
