Age-Appropriate Safety & Security for Early Learners

Tuesday, March 6, 2018 • Clinton CUSD 15 • Clinton

PROGRAM:

Speaker: Roger Eddy – Reflections on a Life in Public Education

Roger Eddy, Executive Director of IASB, has announced his retirement as of July 2018. After more than three decades as a teacher, principal, superintendent, legislator, and IASB Executive Director, Roger has a broad and deep perspective on the current state of public education in Illinois. Roger will take some time to reflect on his wonderful career, his successful tenure at the helm of IASB, and how to successfully meet the challenges that the future may bring to both IASB and Illinois public education.

Video Conferencing and Education – How Video Conferencing Can Enrich Education In Your Schools!

Video Conferencing between districts or schools may be one answer to stretch your district's shrinking budget and enrich your high school course offerings. Retired superintendent Dr. Brent McArdle will discuss potential uses for video conferencing in the areas of professional development, high course offerings, and board communications. Don't miss out on our discussion of this concept whose time has finally come!

Age-Appropriate Safety & Security for Early Learners

Come learn how safety and security best-practices for early learners differ from those for older elementary and secondary age students. Dennis M. Young, President & CEO, and Todd Powers, Vice President, from Ittner Architects, will present best practices to address the specific safety and security needs of early learners, which are unique from every other age group. Features include storm shelter/safe rooms strategically located throughout the school providing refuge when an intruder is present or from severe weather. These safe rooms serve a daily function as coat and cubby rooms, making them familiar and easy for young learners to transition to during emergencies, as well as improving the learning environment in the classrooms. This session will discuss how to reconcile school personnel, law enforcement, and designers independent points-of-view and objectives to achieve consensus, along with recent changes in the administrative codes and their impact on school planning and budgeting for safety and security. Learn what products and materials the industry has to offer.
