

Christy Price

Adela Avila

Candy Hobbs

CONGRATULATIONS!

Your Grand Central Station Lab has been chosen to receive the Spirit of GCS Award
for the 2012 – 2013 school year.

The CENTER FOR LEARNING & DEVELOPMENT recognizes outstanding teachers and administrators who are continuing to support struggling learners using the structure of Grand Central Station with this special award. Schools are facing unprecedented difficulties in these tough times and many teachers, including GCS teachers, are wearing many hats throughout the school day. In spite of the many additional duties you may have, you are remaining true to the GCS training you received and using research-based strategies, providing differentiated instruction and hands-on learning opportunities, professional collaboration, and building relationships. Many GCS Labs are finding it necessary to tweak the model to fit the needs of the school; however, we recognize that your focus remains on the needs of the struggling students on your campus.

Thank you. Thank you for your attentiveness, your determination, and your perseverance! You do not have an easy task before you, but your heart is in this – and you ARE making a difference in the lives of your students. We appreciate you and all that you do to support the students who face the challenges of learning.

Included you will find a certificate to proudly display in your lab classroom as well as a decal that can be put on your window, door or white board. Please know that we are here to help in any way that you need, and we will continue to support you and your efforts.

Sharing the struggles. Finding the Strategies.
The Center for Learning & Development Team

Sharon Blanchard
Executive Director

Dr. Trish Raley
Clinical Director

Sherrie Moore
Associate Director

Cindy Williams
Education Specialist

