Re: Superintendents Board Report

Updates

- The admin team will be attending the annual Idaho Association of School Administrators Conference the first week of August in Boise.
- It appears that Reclaim Idaho has met the threshold for getting a K-12 education funding initiative on the November ballot. This initiative would require a simple majority vote and would generate $323 million for Idaho's K-12 system. This would also include CTE. It would mostly be covered by a corporate and upper income tax increase. I'm not sure what it would mean for other education funding. Possibly a reduction in other areas? With a simple majority to pass it might have a chance.
