Along with the book feedback, I believe that Librarians need to be brought in full-time to each campus. The children need more than just books. They need another dedicated and passionate educational professional to help them and this critical time of their life.

Statistics are out there that show a school districts testing scores increased by 5% with full-time librarians.

Children need to learn the art of loving reading. And in this area, it is vital that we have exemplary adults who can help and steal this in our children. Many children do not have nuclear or functional families to help them.

Bad kitty books are a great series. Having all of them in our libraries would be great, my children will sit and listen to them as though we are watching TV.
