

BUILD+ CORPORATION

Build+ Corporation is a non-profit corporation formed to assist the University of Houston Gerald D. Hines College of Architecture and Design with applied research, community engagement, and its design/build program. It is not an independent corporation but rather it is affiliated with both UH and the College.

The Build+ Corporation currently has ongoing projects with Petmate for UH students to design, create, and develop innovative pet products such as pet enclosures, toys, or food storage and the Houston Zoo to design, fabricate, construct, and install a permanent electronics recycling education exhibit, as well as mobile educational displays.
