

Soda Springs School District 150 will use Idaho Digital Learning Academy (IDLA) classes to supplement and replace the curriculum, allowing homebound students to take classes at home, and provide a full curriculum at Soda Springs School District. Teachers, counselors, and administrators will strive to identify those students who will benefit from on-line classes and to counsel those who will not meet the additional demands of on-line classes accordingly. Enrollment and funding in IDLA classes is a privilege, not a right. Students may be denied the privilege of IDLA enrollment if their academic and behavior record does not indicate the academic ability and self-discipline needed to succeed in on-line learning. IDLA classes taken through Soda Springs School District 150 are state approved high school and junior high courses and will be so regarded and recorded on student transcripts as such.

The School District will annually budget funds to provide initial financial support for approved courses. Students are responsible for paying the $25.00 registration fee. The district will not pay for courses that could otherwise be provided through the regular schedule or at Caribou High School. The funds will be allocated to authorized students on a first come, first served basis. Lab facilities will be provided. IDLA students will be counted as enrolled Soda Springs School District students for attendance and financial purposes.

If a student has failed his/her last IDLA class, then no district funding will be provided and the student must pay IDLA fees until he/she has successfully completed a successive IDLA class. The building principal is responsible to monitor student enrollment to ensure students are eligible. Students will be allowed to enroll in a maximum of two IDLA classes per grading period. All IDLA class enrollments require approval from the counselor and principal.
