Re: High School Principal Report December, 2017

December is here and we have two full weeks left before Semester one finals. We are looking forward to see how the students in grades 9-11 do on the winter MAP testing. The goal is for each student to reach their growth goal by in each of the three areas (Math, Reading, and Language). This year we decided to give the second round of MAP tests in December in hopes of getting more accurate testing done and better data to work with in making decisions for our students and staff. Semester tests for all students will be administered the week of December 18th with Christmas break starting December 21st.
