

When selecting a candidate for the Jones Elementary Scholar of the Month, we, the sixth grade teachers, examined the following criteria. We looked at our students' academic successes and their desire for knowledge. We observed our students according to the character traits they exhibited towards their classmates and the staff, as well. We wanted to select a student that had a great attitude when it came to school

Even though this group of students has many candidates that could receive this honor, one student stood out because of her dedication to all aspects of her education. We selected Elizabeth as our nomination for Scholar of the Month because she exceeds in all the areas we examined. She goes above and beyond when completing any assignment for all of her classes. She turns in high-quality work. You can tell she takes a lot of pride in what she does!

She also has an outstanding character! One of the most important character traits that Elizabeth displays is integrity. She can always be counted on to do the right thing even if nobody is watching. She is very helpful to her classmates and teachers alike, as well as displaying kindness and an excellent attitude under all circumstances.

This same behavior is evident outside of the classroom, too. She has been involved in Cub Pride Counsel for two years. Cub Pride Counsel is responsible for many of campus activities, like Red Ribbon Week and the Veterans' Day Program. Elizabeth isn't just a participant, but looks for the leadership opportunities that arise from these activities. She is very dependable and responsible and offers stability to the Cub Pride Student Body! She is a terrific asset to Jones Intermediate and we are really proud to honor her as Jones Elementary "Scholar of the Month".
