Teacher Tip of the Month by: Kimberly McMillan, ALC Contact Teacher

It's that time of year again – when PACE opens their enrollment for the next school year. But wait – It's Too Early!! I'm not ready to think about next year!!!! I don't even know what curriculum I want to use next year!!!

Don't worry! There is time and it is just the enrollment process of signing up again and setting your SLP meeting in advance. You do not have to have all of your curriculum chosen or even be finished with this year's curriculum to be able to enroll for next year. But, I did think of a few things to help you whittle down curriculum options for next year.

Go Ahead and Enroll now and set your SLP meeting soon.

First, review your year and the curriculum you chose for this past year.

What worked well with the curriculum you chose?

What didn't work well with the curriculum you chose?

Was there a curriculum that had you feel like you as the teacher wanted to pull your hair out?

Was there a curriculum that you thought was organized so well it made teaching that subject feel easier than the others?

What other pros and cons did each curriculum have throughout the year?

Second, take the time to look into any curriculum that you heard about over the last year.

Was there a curriculum someone mentioned that you haven't had time to look into and see if it would be a good fit for your student and your family?

Take the time to ask on the Facebook page Alaskan Homeschoolers to see if anyone else has used it and what they have to say about it.

Third, make sure you have your SLP meeting scheduled with your contact teacher.

Remember, your teacher can help guide you towards curriculum options to look into and research before your SLP meeting.

Now you can start your curriculum choice list for next year. You've got this!
