I, Tony Abbate, agree strongly, agree, disagree, disagree strongly with the above nomination for the LPS Golden Apple Award.

Additional comments:

Ron has had an exceptional year at Frost, routinely going above and beyond the responsibilities of his job and getting out of his own comfort zone in a highly creative effort to participate in our school climate program. He has taken on numerous school improvement projects around the building, including everything from painting our newly renovated counseling office with our new color scheme, to giving our stage a professional look with a coat of black for the interior walls, to turning what had long been a large storage room into a freshly cleared and painted addition to our Makerspace. He approaches any given project with intense focus, and completes it with great efficiency and attention to detail. His leadership in these endeavors has contributed significantly to the aesthetic appeal and overall functionality of the building, both inside and out.

In addition to the pride he takes in the appearance and maintenance of our building, Ron has also immersed himself in our schoolwide Positive Behavior Intervention & Support program by combining an idea for cafeteria recycling with a unique PBIS reward. Thanks to Ron's initiative and the generosity of our PTSA, students at Frost now receive Falcon Dollars during lunch if they recycle a pop/juice can, which they may then trade for opportunities to play Xbox One games with their friends on the projector screen in the cafeteria, or for chances to spin Ron's electronic gaming wheel and win a variety of prizes. On any given day, visitors to the Frost cafeteria may now see groups of students dancing along to Just Dance on the big screen, cheering on a spirited game of Madden between two classmates, or calling for the jackpot as the prize wheel spins on stage. This has proven to be a clever way to expand our PBIS program and quite a lot of fun for students. For these efforts, along with his numerous daily contributions to our school, the Frost community is proud to see Ron Caperton honored for his work with the Golden Apple Award.
