AIMSweb+

- AIMSweb is a universal screening, progress monitoring, and data management system that supports Response to Intervention (RTI) and tiered instruction. AIMSweb uses brief, valid, and reliable measures of reading and math performance for grades K-12, which can be generalized to any curriculum.

Dial-4

- NSBSD uses Dial-4 as a screening instrument to identify young children (K-3 and K-4) in need of help with academic skills or in need of further intervention or assessment as part of the District's Child Find process.

Measures of Academic Progress® (MAP®)

- MAP is a K – 12 interim assessment that measures growth. Data from MAP can help educators project proficiency on state accountability tests, support differentiated instruction, and serve as an input for program evaluation. Computer adaptive MAP assessments help identify a student's current academic achievement level and what they're ready to learn. MAP assessments are grade independent and adapt to each student's instructional level.

Renaissance STAR Math and Reading

- Star Math is a customized math test for students to take on a computer. The test is designed for students in grades 1 through 12 (also for students in kindergarten who have basic reading and math skills). Students can finish the Star Math test in about 20 minutes.
- Star Reading is a computer-adaptive test that measures student achievement on reading skills. As a student takes the assessment, the software selects items based on the student's responses. Star Reading consists of 34 items (25 for progress monitoring) and generally takes fewer than 30 minutes for the student to complete the assessment.

The Alaska Developmental Profile (DP)

- The Alaska Developmental Profile is required by state law to be completed for all students entering kindergarten or students entering first grade who did not attend a public kindergarten. Teachers are asked to rate their students on the goals in the DP after the first four weeks of school. Teachers will report student scores using an online system found at the DP website.

NAEP

- The National Assessment of Educational Progress or NAEP, is often called the "Nation's Report Card." NAEP testing happens every other year. It is the largest continuing and nationally representative assessment of what our nation's students know and can do in core subjects.

NAEP is congressionally mandated, and was first administered in 1969 to measure student achievement nationally. Teachers, principals, parents, policymakers, and researchers all use NAEP results to assess progress and develop ways to improve education in the United States.
