

798 UNPAID MEAL CHARGE AND DEBT COLLECTION PROCEDURE

INTRODUCTION:

Beginning July 1, 2017, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) required all Local Education Authorities (LEAs) to have a written and clearly communicated meal charge policy, which needs to be distributed to households at the start of each school year. This policy delineates how students will be charged for meals, as well as offering alternate meals, limits on meal charges, or allowing neither meal charges nor alternate meals when a student's account has insufficient funds. This policy also includes information about how unpaid meal debt will be collected. It is important that all staff who are responsible for enforcement of this policy, including food service staff, office/administrative staff, principals, social workers, homeless liaison, etc., be aware of the policy.

Minnesota statute requires that "any reminders for payment of outstanding student meal balances do not demean or stigmatize any child participating in the school lunch program¹." Collecting and asking for meal payments should be done in a respectful manner. School districts are in the best position to understand their school community's attitudes, beliefs and cultural sensitivities on methods of reminding and collecting payments. At no time should a meal policy target or shame students for financial considerations beyond their control.

When districts notify households of the meal charge and collection policy/procedure, multiple methods of distributing the information should be used. Options are to include, published in the student/parent handbook, the back-to-school free/reduced-price meal application, school/district newsletter, or posted on the school/district website. However, USDA requires that all LEAs provide written information directly to households. Posting the policy on the district website alone is not sufficient.

I. PURPOSE
