Dear Mr Berridge,

It is with great pleasure that we invite the SATIN STRINGS to participate in the Stirling Bridge International Arts Festival taking place in Scotland from July 6 to July 11, 2019. Dean Marshall, John Crozman and I have had the chance to talk about your recent Canada tour and both have told me that the Festival would be a perfect match for the Satin Strings and your engaging style of performance.

Scotland is a country steeped in history, legend and folklore. During the 5 day festival your group will have the opportunity to perform in castle grounds, beautiful market towns, modern theatres and ageless churches. The festival prides itself on providing a unique experience for every participating ensemble making sure that performance experiences will be matched with the strengths and desires of each participating group. The festival will culminate in a gala performance at Scotland's newest concert hall, the world class Perth Concert Hall.

The 2019 edition of the festival will be the fourth, building on the huge successes and enjoyment experienced by previous groups to the festival. For 2019 the festival is pleased to announce that all participants will be housed at the University of Edinburgh to accommodate the growing number of participants in the festival. Edinburgh is a truly a stunning city and a UNESCO world heritage site.

In addition to the core festival, there are also opportunities for additional performance activities or workshops either before or after the festival. If you are interested in exploring these possibilities please let us know.

A warm welcome awaits you as we extend our hand in friendship, to build bridges between us, and form lifelong friendships through a shared love of music.
