Strategic Plan

- We are reviewing the Homedale School District Strategic Plan and will share at the October meeting how we did with last year's goals as well as possible minor changes to the plan for approval at the October meeting.

Teacher Evaluation Training

- Matt, Christine, and I will be attending training for two days next week on the Charlotte Danielson teacher evaluation model that we use for evaluations in the district. Anyone with an administrative certification is required to take the three credit training before they recertify. Terri and Moss took and passed an online assessment so they won't need to take the class until after their next certification cycle.

Air Quality

- Staff members have been monitoring air quality this week to determine if it is acceptable to participate in outdoor activities including recess, practices, and games. The following link is a resource that we use to get updates on air quality in the area and across Idaho. <https://www.airnow.gov/>
