Principal's General Narrative:

The flu bug hit us hard in February. Hopefully this has run its course and our attendance will improve.

We have started two different attendance incentives for the rest of the year.

The grade level that has the highest attendance percentage for the week will get an ice cream reward the following week. The first grade level winner was the 5th grade with 97% attendance for the week.

The second incentive will be for any student that has perfect attendance at the end of the 6 weeks will be awarded with a pizza party.
