WRITE

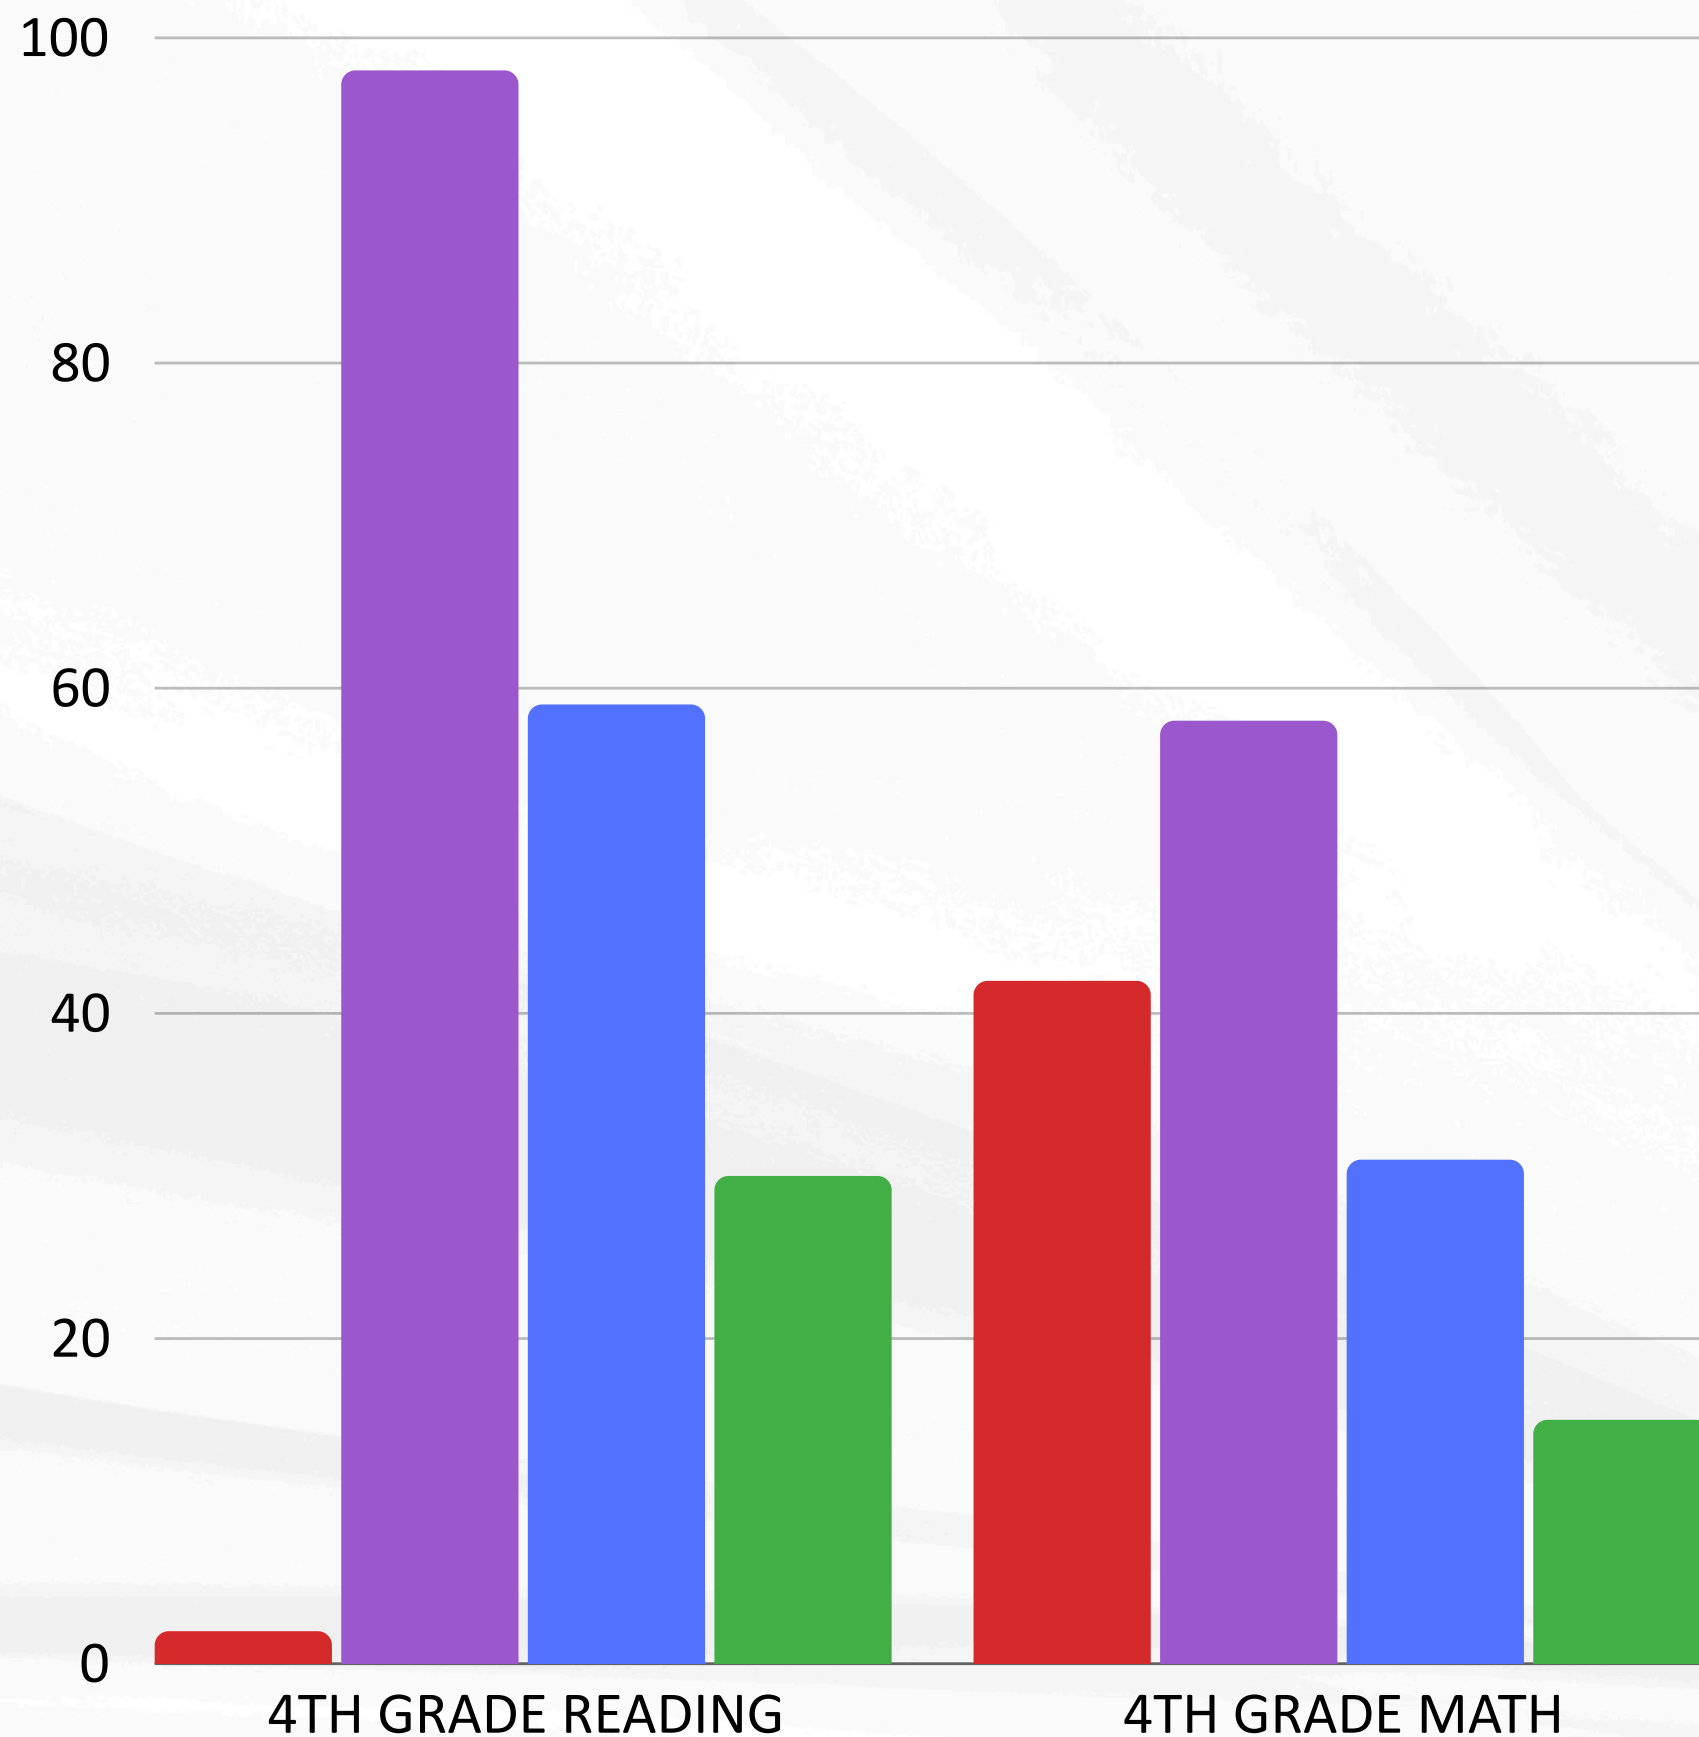

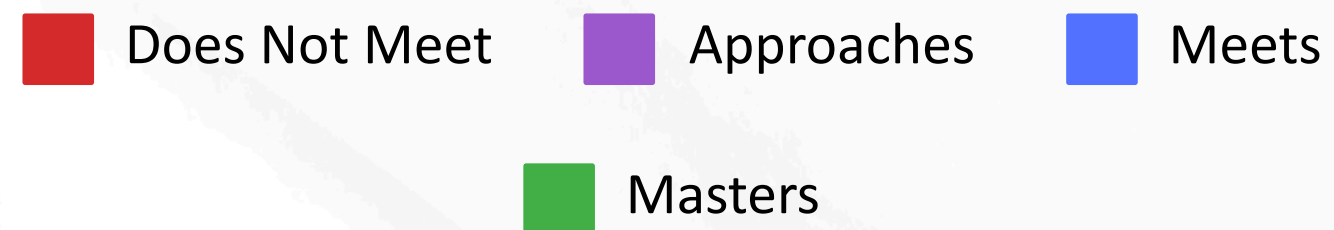

Engaging students in speaking, reading, writing, and listening allows them to interact with a concept from multiple angles, reinforcing their comprehension and critical thinking. These integrated language skills enhance their ability to process information, communicate their ideas clearly, and make deeper connections to the material being learned.

mCLASS - Beginning of the Year (BOY)

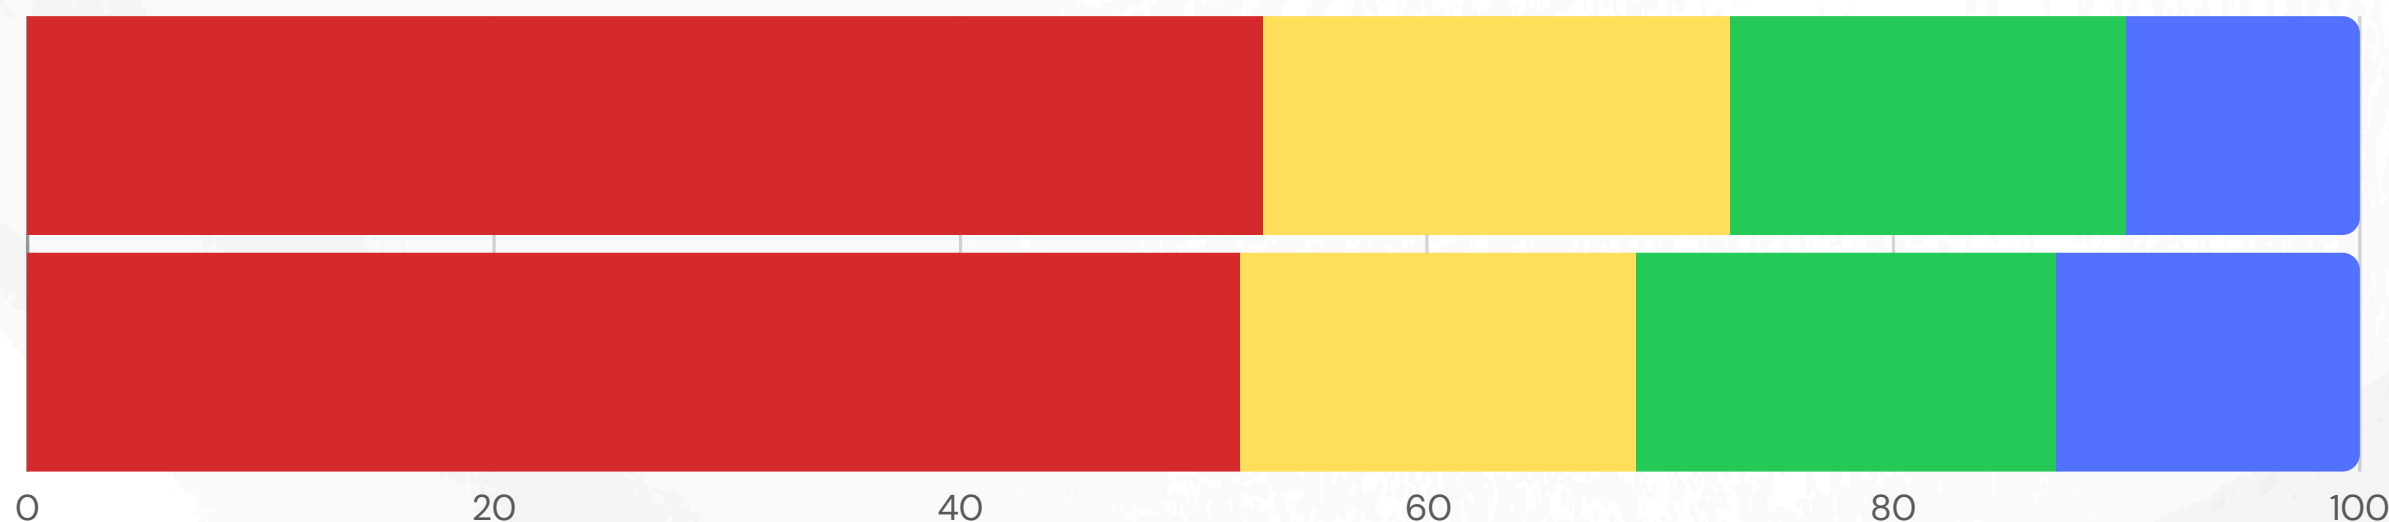

The mCLASS Beginning of Year (BOY) assessment is a literacy screening tool used to evaluate early reading skills in students, helping teachers identify areas of strength and need. It provides data on foundational skills like phonemic awareness, phonics, and fluency to inform instruction and support individualized learning.
