Re: Dual credit textbook required by Waubensee Community College

As we prepare to begin our new dual credit Introduction to Teaching course this fall at GHS, we have been informed of the textbook that is required for this course. As you know, high schools must adopt the same texts as the college in order to satisfy the dual credit requirements.

The text selection for Introduction to Teaching is Those Who Can, Teach by Ryan, Cooper, and Bolick. This text is widely used in teacher preparation programs, and also comes highly recommended by other high schools who have implemented this course. A link to a description of this text can be found here:

We will need one set of 30 texts that will be used each semester. Additionally, we will need 2 instructor editions of the text. We are in the process of soliciting quotes for this text, which should come in between $3,500-$4,000. Our goal is to purchase these in early August so that they arrive in time for students when school begins.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
