KEYNOTES AND FEATURED SPEAKERS

Dr. Willard R. Daggett
Founder and Chairman, International Center for Leadership in Education

Bill has inspired audiences worldwide and helped hundreds of school systems and districts to move toward more rigorous and relevant skills and knowledge for all students. Bill has consulted with education ministries in several countries, and collaborated with CCSSO, Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, National Governors Association, U.S. Department of Education, USA Today, and NASA.

Raymond J. McNulty
Senior Fellow, International Center
for Leadership in Education
Chief Learning Officer, Penn Foster

Ray has served as a senior fellow with the Gates Foundation, as a past commissioner for Vermont's department of education, and as a past president of ASCD. He has addressed national and international audiences, and is committed to raising performance standards for both teachers and students.

Susan A. Gendron
Senior Fellow, International Center
for Leadership in Education;
Policy Coordinator, SMARTER
Balanced Assessment Consortium

With 40 years in education, Sue is a former teacher, principal, assistant superintendent, and superintendent, a past commissioner of education for Maine, and past president of CCSSO. She is now Policy Coordinator for the SMARTER Balanced Assessment Consortium, a multi-state consortia awarded funding by U.S. Department of Education to develop assessments based on the new Common Core State Standards.

Dr. Susan Szachowicz
Principal, Brockton High School,
Brockton, Mass.

As principal of Brockton High since 2004, Sue calls herself the school's greatest cheerleader and promotes "high expectations, high standards – no excuses." She has taken this 4,200-student urban high school from being a case study in failure to outperforming 90% of all other Massachusetts high schools.

Sharon Wolder
Associate Principal,
Brockton High School, Brockton Mass.

After completing the urban education program at Boston College, Sharon was assigned to student teach at Brockton High School – and she hasn't left since. She taught history and was Social Science Department Head and Housemaster before becoming Associate Principal. A longtime member of the school's Restructuring Committee, Sharon has been instrumental in developing, implementing, and monitoring school wide initiatives geared toward improving student achievement.

Deborah S. Delisle
U.S. Department of Education
Assistant Secretary for Elementary and Secondary Education

Former elementary school educator, district superintendent, and Ohio's state superintendent of public instruction, Deb has done innovative work in standards and assessments, teacher preparation and induction, and professional development standards. She led Ohio's successful Race to the Top application.

Dr. Robert Brooks
Assistant Clinical Professor of Psychology,
Department of Psychiatry,
Harvard Medical College

One of today's leading speakers on the themes of resilience, self-esteem, motivation, and family relationships, Bob is renowned for the warmth and humor he uses to bring his insights and anecdotes to life. His stories are largely based upon his own experiences as a clinical psychologist, father, husband, and son. In addition to his role at Harvard, he has a part-time private practice in which he sees children, adolescents, adults, and families and has appeared regularly on local and national television.

Dr. Paul Nussbaum
Clinical Neuropsychologist and Adjunct
Professor of Neurological Surgery,
University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine

Paul educates the general public on the basics of the human brain and how to keep the brain healthy over the entire lifespan. He has presented his views on brain health at the United Nations and National Press Club. Among his many partnerships and alliances, he is national director of brain health for Emeritus Assisted Living. With Alzheimer's Foundation of America, Paul serves as Chair of the Advisory Board for Prevention of Alzheimer's.

Kenneth Wesson
Education and Neuroscience Consultant

An internationally recognized expert on brain development, emotional intelligence, the neuropsychology of prejudice, contextual learning, and curriculum development, Kenneth speaks on the neuroscience of learning and "brain-considerate" learning environments. He has served as a science writer for Science IQ and worked as an educational consultant for Stanford Research Institute.
