Library News

Scholastic is trying to promote their prepaid, reloadable Card for teens to acquire (though their parents). They are offering sweepstake prizes for schools and individuals if you get onto their website and complete their survey <http://www.scholastic.com/pass/> .

I did this myself and it took about 30 seconds. Of course, the more people from our school that participates in this, the more chances for our school to win. Scholastic pamphlets about this program can be attained through me in the library or at the front office at Lincoln Savage. Anyone interested can have one.
