Dear Ken Gallagher, AZ State PWID Director

Knights of Columbus:

With the generous grant from last year we have begun to assemble a sensory room for the special needs children at Copper Creek Elementary School. We would very much like to add to this room to make it all it can be for these challenged children.

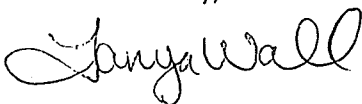

Sensory equipment designated for students with disabilities provide the opportunity to address the very specific sensory needs of the intellectually disabled child. This can include therapeutic redirection, self-regulation, behavioral modification, and access to stimulation for students that require it. It is an integral part of achieving maximum learning and benefits many students, especially those with very specific disabilities. Our school has many.

Copper Creek serves a diverse population of students, including but not limited to a wide range of special needs. The school has two special needs preschools, a primary self-contained cross-categorical classroom, an intermediate cross-categorical classroom, an intermediate self-contained classroom for students with emotional and behavioral disabilities, and a resource program for students with learning disabilities. The school has a wide range of other special services, including Occupational Therapy, Speech and Language Therapy, and Physical Therapy. Students can benefit tremendously from a sensory room for a myriad of reasons, many of those outlined above.

A list of items that would add to the room that has been established is attached. Research has shown a sensory room for the use of sensory equipment like those we are proposing is extremely valuable for the population of students that we serve. A special education team including teachers, speech and language therapists, occupational therapists, physical therapists, and psychologists, has compiled this list and will work in conjunction to use it effectively, modify it as needed, and staff it professionally. Our occupational and physical therapists will train all of the professionals on the proper and most effective use of the equipment.

We thank you for your consideration in this matter, and thank you for your generosity in serving those with intellectual disabilities. Your continued service to this population is a credit to our state.

Sincerely,

Principal and The Special Education Staff of Copper Creek Elementary School
