Q1. If the state approves a much higher education budget after the BSD budget is finalized and all teachers have already been hired, or after the school year starts, is there a set plan for where additional funds are applied?

A1. There is a framework for add backs prepared by Teaching and Learning. Priorities include: Poverty and Academic Achievement allocations especially at the secondary level, professional development for new curriculum adoptions, Library Instructional Technology Teaching positions, and extreme class size considerations. If there is tax reform and a funding level above $8.4B, we would review the strategic investments currently listed in our multiyear finance plan.
