Bluebonnet Learning Spanish Instructional Materials Pilot for Math and Reading

Based on the feedback of current instructional needs and student performance, Temple ISD campus and district leaders, along with selected teachers, reviewed the SBOE-Instructional Materials list during the 2024-2025 school year. Materials were reviewed to ensure resources provided instructional planning supports and addressed gaps identified by classroom teachers and campus administrators.

The Spanish component of the proposed resources will be considered for approval by the SBOE this year. TEA has invited districts to participate in a pilot of the Bluebonnet Learning Spanish Materials. Bluebonnet Learning pilot instructional materials are state-developed instructional materials aligned with state standards that have not yet been approved through the State Board of Education's (SBOE) Instructional Materials Review and Approval (IMRA) process. Pilot instructional materials help TEA gather meaningful feedback that can improve the final version of the materials, implementation supports, and digital access.

The Academics Department requests approval to participate in the Bluebonnet Learning Spanish Instructional Materials Pilot for the 2025-2026 school year.

The district responsibilities for participation in the pilot include:

- Primary pilot contact must attend a pilot information and requirements webinar
- Participating teachers and coaches are required to submit feedback on the pilot materials and implementation up to four times during the pilot
- At the end of the pilot school year, the district will cease using all pilot materials and implementation supports
