INFORMATION

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

It occurs too often that our system is not adequately prepared to anticipate the learner performance requirements of new accountability standards. End of Course exams are being planned to replace the current TAKS tests at the high school level. In addition, there are indications that TAKS will be replaced in lower grade levels. We want to assemble a task force to research and communicate the needs, challenges and opportunities that we will have with the onset of new testing measures. The goal would be for us to take the lead in preparedness for the new version of learner performance accountability.
