Cassie's Corner...

During this time of social distancing from friends and family, the relationships we have with our pets can seem even more important. The closer the attachment we have to our pet, usually equals the depth of the grief we feel when they are gone.

Here is a video by kids and for kids about grieving the loss of a pet. It explores what grief is, the nature of death, and ways to cope. The video provides examples of different age groups, and it encourages families to work together.

Also attached, is a PDF workbook designed to be informative and therapeutic. It is suggested that students work with a family member or adult. If preferred, students can work with the LBMS Student Advocate, Tawana Grabarz, via., Google Meet. Arrangements can be made by contacting the LBMS School Counselor, Cassie Banuelos, cassie.banuelos@threerivers.k12.or.us

LBMS Library Happenings

Hello Vikings!

Last week I mentioned in this article, that I was working on a plan for book checkouts during distance learning...but as you are probably aware, the state has announced that our county is eligible to have kids come back into LBMS for classes! While we are so excited to see you and have you back with us, it causes me to backtrack and now come up with a plan to check out books at school, while still adhering to social distancing protocols. So I will hopefully be close to having instructions for everyone when you all get here, hopefully sooner rather than later.

I am still sending out notices and speaking to students online about their overdue books from last year, and we are making very good progress. As always, if you have questions, please contact me during office hours 3:30 - 4:30 M-Th.

Mr. Jensen

WE HAVE NEW T-SHIRTS FOR YOU GUYS UPON YOUR RETURN TO SCHOOL!!!!
