ADDITIONAL INFORMATION AND/OR BACK-UP:

SBISD has a long history of providing a quality pregnancy related services program for students who are pregnant through their return to regular schooling after delivery. The Texas Education Agency allows for students to be served on campus in this program with an approved waiver. Our students are served either at-home if medically that is required or at the West Support Center if the student's and baby's health permit.

From TEA:

This waiver allows districts and charter schools to request a waiver to offer Pregnancy-Related Services Compensatory Education Home Instruction (CEHI) on a district's campus. Special education students who qualify for Pregnancy Related Services (PRS) may also receive homebound instruction on campus if the district has an approved on-campus instruction waiver. The waiver is not required for students receiving full-day instruction in a remote setting. The requirements of the waiver are as follows:

Provide transportation as needed.

Serve students at home if medically indicated.

Do not exceed student-teacher ratio of four students to one teacher.

Do not use self-paced computer-based instruction to fulfill the four hours of CEHI.
