

Addition to Curriculum

Like it was presented, within the School Policies, we have adopted a new curriculum to share with your students, this year. Please feel free to visit The Center for Relationship Education's website to read more about their mission, purpose and other resources available to you, in your pursuit of the totality of a student's health and wellness:

In addition to the Get REAL curriculum, we are partnering with the organization Traffick 911, to better equip students with the tools to avoid risky situations, specifically involving sexual predators. Mary Elliott, a trained instructor from their organization, will be teaching one day, each one or two-week session. Her presentation will include such subjects as:

- * the traps that sex traffickers use
- * safety in regards to texting and apps for smart phones
- * how to enjoy social media wisely
- * alternatives for students needing a safe place to go

Mary will also leave information with the classroom teacher, for any student needing additional help, as discretion and the students' privacy is always our priority.

Traffick 911 has learning objectives, which have been attached. Please review to get a better idea of the extent of their presentation. Any questions pertaining to their program or presentation can be directed to Mary Elliott at parkervolunteers@traffick911.com or Jayme Wood at jayme@gracehouseministries.net.
