BISD Teacher Incentive Allotment Update February 2024

Good afternoon, BROWNWOOD ISD_025902,

The Texas Education Agency (TEA) is pleased to inform you that the 2023-2024 Teacher Incentive Allotment designations submitted based on 2022-2023 teacher effectiveness data have been approved.

Congratulations on meeting this crucial milestone as your district takes important steps to recognize, reward, and retain your most effective teachers. For additional information, please review the attached Data Validation Report for your data validation results, including suggestions to consider for improving your local designation system.

Your local designation system is fully approved with a required renewal process in 2027. If your district would like to expand or modify your local designation system for 2024-2025, please review the Expansions/Modifications resources and submit an application by April 15, 2024.

As a district with full system approval, your district may continue to recommend new or higher designations by submitting data for teachers in eligible teaching assignments in fall 2024. New or higher designations will be approved on an annual basis after a review of the holistic system and data validation results. To support validation efforts, we strongly encourage continued data capture for all teachers in eligible teaching assignments.

Please refer to the attached document for a comprehensive timeline of next steps, training, and resources. This timeline will be reviewed in the sessions on February 7.

Thank you for your work supporting Texas teachers and students.

Best,

TIA Team

Individual teachers will be notified when the district receives the official designation report. Designated teachers also receive an email directly from TEA. Teachers submitted for designation were notified by email in the fall. All teachers in eligible teaching positions may qualify or advance their designation every year. We will continue to capture data and submit every October with the goal of designating all eligible teachers. We will also look at ways to add eligible teaching assignments and continue to expand the system.
